

Your side event @ the Amsterdam International Water Week
30 October – 3 November 2017

Be part of it: 25.000 international professionals, high level decision makers, innovative showcases and many networking events

Are you planning an event that deserves the attention of leading water professionals worldwide? Why not organize your event at the Amsterdam International Water Week, where 25.000 international professionals and decision makers gather from 30 October to 3 November 2017. Offer the participants of your open or 'invitation only' event the added bonus of an inspiring conference programme, the renowned Aquatech and Floodex Exhibitions, excursions to 'Living Lab' the Netherlands and many social events and networking opportunities.

10 reasons to organize your side event at the Amsterdam International Water Week:

1. Your event is part of the AIWW programme, well known for its' innovative character, integrated approach and quality.
2. The highlights or conclusions of your event can be integrated in the AIWW conference.
3. The AIWW conference Programme Advisory Board support team reviews your event and can help you with suggestions and ideas.
4. Participants of your event receive a discount of 50 euros on a two-day AIWW conference ticket. Participants of your event will have free access to Aquatech Amsterdam and Floodex Europe trade exhibitions.
5. Many high level key note speakers are expected at the conference, linking your event to Europe's leading experts on water.
6. Your event will be integrated in publications and social media channels of the AIWW, reaching a wide audience of international professionals.
7. Registration of your delegates will be taken care of by the AIWW conference registration desk, online and/or on site.
8. You will be provided with state of the art facilities at RAI Amsterdam venue.
9. Many networking events and opportunities to mix with exhibitors and experts, decision makers, and politicians.
10. A dynamic environment with excursions to 'Living Lab' the Netherlands and of course the beautiful city of Amsterdam.
